

MANAGED PHISHLINE

Powered by  Barracuda

OVERVIEW

How confident are you that your employees know how to recognize a phishing attack? Fight phishing and other potentially devastating attacks that can slip through security gateways. IntraSystems Managed PhishLine solution, powered by Barracuda, makes it possible for us to provide sophisticated phishing simulation and security awareness training to your employees without creating added work for your IT department.

This is a great tool to utilize. Studies have shown that 54% of companies surveyed pointed to a negligent employee or contractor as the root cause of a data breach that their company experienced.

With Managed PhishLine, we help safeguard your employees through interactive phishing simulation and security awareness training. Our team takes care of the campaign management and reporting. Through this service, we can teach your employees how to spot, avoid, and report real-world attacks. We will help you move away from one-time tests and redundant analysis to a more comprehensive, ongoing anti-phishing program.
